

When a leading IP litigation firm was hosting an important presentation by the Chinese Consulate, they turned to TransPerfect Legal Solutions to provide both simultaneous and consecutive interpretation services for the event. Supplying a team of expert interpreters and all the necessary technical equipment, TLS's outstanding performance at the presentation and the dinner that followed helped the firm further strengthen its relationship with its Chinese business partners.

The Client

A member of the Am Law 100, Wildman, Harrold, Allen & Dixon holds a distinct reputation for expertise in litigation and litigation-related counseling. Its breadth of legal representation includes corporate, intellectual property, labor and employment, real estate, government affairs, restructuring and insolvency, and estate planning.

Wildman's Intellectual Property Practice Group emphasizes its capability to handle both traditional and emerging intellectual property issues of business. Composed of experienced attorneys with corporate, commercial, and IP backgrounds, the Group offers its clients a wide range of IP expertise.

The Challenge

Wildman was hosting a presentation by the Chinese Consulate addressing the tightening Intellectual Property laws overseas—in 10 days. Because five of the presentations would be given in Mandarin, the firm had a pressing need for high quality interpretation services in order to accommodate the English-speaking audience.

As there would be a dinner following the presentation, Wildman had opted for simultaneous – rather than consecutive – interpretation to keep things running on schedule. This meant that the necessary equipment for the interpreters and for the audience of over 125 peers and potential business partners would have to be operating smoothly.

The TLS Solution

With a demonstrated history of providing the highest quality interpretation services and equipment under tight deadlines, TransPerfect Legal Solutions was the natural choice to supply Wildman with the linguistic support needed to coordinate a successful presentation. Leveraging our network of over 4,000 linguists and subject-matter specialists, TLS was able to provide four experienced interpreters to carry out the simultaneous interpretation. Working on a two-by-two rotating system, the interpreters were able to commit their energy to giving the most accurate and consistent translations possible.

The equipment supplied by TLS allowed the linguists to operate from a soundproof booth, from which their interpretations were fed to each audience member's headset. The industry-specific legal terminology was expertly communicated, all while maintaining the integrity of the discussion and ensuring a seamless experience for the presenters and the attendees.